Chris Jarosz, CPA

“I have had the privilege of working with Brian King and found his integrity and competence to be outstanding. He was truly able to understand complex accounting matters and come up with extremely practical solutions. Based on my experience, I highly recommend Brian King for handling challenging financial issues.”

- Bruce L. Wald

“Chris is a diligent, client-oriented, and knowledgeable professional with many valuable executive experiences. His most valuable strengths, however, are his abilities to explain the nuances of accounting and finance to different personalities, work with various corporate functional leads, and apply strategic and practical business reasoning to complex issues. I would highly recommend Chris to any company seeking to address any number of accounting, tax or corporate financial issues.”
